January term Grand Jurors to review murder, mayhem

By BRENT MACEY

The Hancock County January Grand Jury which will be selected Monday is expected to review one of the largest number of cases ever presented before that body.

Not only will the Grand Jury hear a record number of cases, but presentments will be of an unusually varied nature, including charges of aggravated assault, armed robbery, arson, burglary, forgery, grand larceny, manslaughter, murder, and rape.

Circuit Court Judge Leslie E. Grant will preside over the Grand Jury and Circuit Court term which also opens Monday in the Hancock County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson said his department will be presenting some 67 cases to the Grand Jury.

"The majority are drug-related cases, but really there is a tremendous variety," he said.

The Bay St. Louis Police Department reports it expects to present about eight cases; three of which involve charges of aggravated assault with most of the others involving burglary.

The Waveland Police Department is expected to bring between four and seven cases.

Investigator Robert Tartavouille, most of those cases, are not major. However, one case involves charges of armed robbery and another case involves burglary.

One case expected to be presented to the jurors involves the charges against James E. Billiot in connection with a Leetown triple murder. Thanksgiving Day.

Another case expected to be heard involves charges of conspiracy to commit mayhem filed against Chris Sand, a former Bay St. Louis Police officer.

Sand and a former owner of the Driewood Motel in Bay St. Louis allegedly attempted to have a Pascagoula man "crippled or blinded" in retaliation for an alleged debt owed to the motel owner.

The case of Fritz Garcia, accused of raping a Bay-Waveland area woman, is also expected to be heard.

The case of Fannie D. Johnson, accused of 21 counts of forgery while she was employed at the Hancock County Youth Center may also be presented. Any findings of irregularities the State Audit Department which conducted a special investigation into operations of the office of Hancock County Circuit Clerk Henry Otis may be presented.

A case involving a drug raid Oct. 8 which netted an estimated $400,000 of marijuana and led to the arrest of Randy Blake and Sandy D. Sorrels, both of 11th Street in Shoreline Park, may also be presented.

Blake was charged with growing, cultivating and processing, manufacturing and with intent to sell marijuana.

In Circuit Court criminal action, the trial of John A. Lander, accused of forgery in connection with tornado damage repairs at Gulfview Elementary School, is set for Jan. 25.

Lander allegedly signed the name of Tommy Lane to two checks which were issued for painting work at the school.

The trial of Jack Berry, accused of burglary of a dwelling and receiving stolen property, is set for Jan. 25.

Berry allegedly set fire to the Hancock County jail after his arrest on those charges. He was badly burned in the resulting blaze and was hospitalized in the New Orleans Burn Center for more than a month.

The trials of Nelson Crossdale, Leo Paul Cook and Randall G. Goodrich are scheduled for Jan. 20. The three were arrested in connection with an armed robbery of the Amoco Station at Our

Four arrested in rash of Kiln burglaries

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Four 18-year-old Hancock County residents were arrested late Friday in connection with a rash of burglaries of business establishments in the Kiln area, according to Hancock County Investigator Alvin Ladner.

Ladner said Saturday, "The most recent burglary of Melba's Place, Kiln Supermarket, Cuevas Junction, and the Kiln Shell Service occurred on the night of Jan. 2, with the establishments also being burglarized in recent months."

Roger D. Burleson, P.O. Box 116, Kiln; Martin Comfort, Rt. 3, Box 335, (Penton Community); Pass Christian; and Darin D. Kilpatrick, Fourth Street, Bayou Phillips Community are charged with the alleged burglary of Melba's Place, Cuevas Junction, and the Kiln Shell Service on Jan. 2. Ladner stated, "Police say Burleson, and Comfort have four charges of burglary with three against Kilpatrick."

The fourth 18-year-old, Joseph Dunhurst, P.O. Box 256, Kiln is charged with the alleged burglary of the Kiln Supermarket on Jan. 2, the investigator said.

A preliminary hearing for the four has been set for Jan. 26 before Hancock County Justice Court Judge Bruce Neale. A $5,000 bond each was set for the four.

Sheriff Ronald Peterson reported the burglaries included change from vending machines, cigarettes, beer and food items.

Ladner added, "Additional arrests are expected in the Kiln cases as our investigation is still underway."

Hancock Deputy Nathan Hoda, and David Murtagh, auxiliary deputy are assisting in the investigations.

In other police matters, Hancock Investigator Delbert Seay reports the issuance of an out of state warrants for two subjects in connection with the burglary and vandalism of the Gulfview Elementary and the Waveland Elementary Schools several months ago.

"We have recovered some of the items taken in these burglaries and are awaiting for the two subjects to be picked-up by out of state police," Seay commented.

The schools' investigation involves Seay and Waveland Investigators Robert (Poochy) Tartavouille and Sandra Hendry.

Two US-90 stores robbed

By ELLIS CUEVAS

By St. Louis police are investigating the armed robbery of two US-90 food stores Friday night.

Asst. Chief of Police Jerry Gremling Saturday said, "Around 7:30 p.m. Friday, a subject entered the Jr. Food Store, US-90 and North Second Street and asked the clerk for a package of cigarettes and then pulled a gun and robbed him of an undetermined amount of cash."

The suspect was a white male and fled on foot.

"At 4 a.m. Saturday, a black male entered the Majik Market, US-90 and Washington Road, asked for cigarettes, and he also pulled a gun on the clerk and d fled on foot with an undetermined amount of cash," Gremling added. Another Jr. Food Store was robbed at 7 p.m. in Gulfport according to Gremling and he said the descriptions of the subjects are very similar to the Jr. Food Store robbery in Bay St. Louis in half hour later.

Bay St. Louis investigator Matt Karl and Gremling are continuing the investigation of the robbery.

Gremling said the necessary being investigated to determine if the two robberies are connected.

Douglas W. Hester, Jr., police chief of police, was contacted for information regarding the robbery and he said he will call his department's attorney.

Re-appraisal, redistricting cited as prime county tasks

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A.A. (Dolph) Keller, Hancock County Board of Supervisors' president, feels countywide property re-appraisal and redistricting are important tasks which must be completed this year.

"One of the programs I'm most proud of is our in-house re-appraisal program. Based on comments we've received from state officials, they are pleased with the work the assessor's office is doing on this project," he recently stated.

"No one has really wanted to jump in and begin this program, but by starting early and doing our own re-appraisal we have saved the county a lot of money," Keller said.

"I recommended we begin this program a long time ago," he added. Regarding redistricting, the board president reported, "We are not required to do this, but if someone contested an election the courts could force us to redistrict."

Keller said the number of voters in each district is a prime consideration in determining new best lines in addition to assessed valuations.

"The board president also feels the county had a 'real good year' in 1981.

He particularly noted the County Port and Harbor Commission made big strides in industrial development; Federal revenue sharing program provided funds to pave several roads and hopes the program will continue; and Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland are working in harmony with the county.

"I feel the cities and county are united, and all their leaders are looking towards progress in the past, these governments operated as three different worlds," Keller stated.

However, Keller said the recent arrest of a County Youth Court employee and a current state investigation of the Circuit Clerk's office "put a black eye" on county government.

"But all and all I feel the county had a real good year," he reiterated.

Pirates top Tigers, 61-54

By BRENT MACEY
The Pass High School varsity boys basketball team gained an early lead Friday night and held on to defeat Bay High 61-54.

Late in the first period in Pass Christian the Pirates jumped ahead 24-9. The Tigers, who had opportunities to score, missed several easy baskets.

But with four minutes left in the half, the Tigers started gaining momentum.

When the half time buzzer sounded the Tigers had shaved the lead to five, and the score read 32-27.

The Pass' strategy from their earliest lead was to slow the ball game down.

Pirate Ben Fields played an outstanding game, killing the clock with tricky ball handling and then driving through the Tiger defense to score a total of 21 points and 10 assists during the game.

At one point late in the third quarter the Tigers pulled within three but then fell back to trail the Pirates by five or seven points for the remainder of the game.

Pirates Ricky Conway and Clarence Joseph each added 11 points for the Pass.

Tiger Darryl Robinson was high scorer for the Tigers and the game with 24 points. Trellis Harvey hit for 12.

In girls varsity action, the Lady Pirates jumped way out in front late in the third period to defeat the Tigerettes 51-33.

Lady Pirate Tammie De-aux scored 17 and Fran Jacobs totalled 13.

Tigerette Terri Rhodes had 10 points and Dina Benoit hit for eight. Results of the game give the Tigerettes a 6-7 season.

The Bays undefeated B-team players gave the Tigers their only win.

T.J. Farve hit for 19 and Barry Fredericks scored 12 to give the Tigers a 50-39 victory.

Following the boys Saturday game Saturday against Rolling Fork High at the University of Southern Mississippi, the Tigers will be traveling to Pearl River Central. The Pass will travel to Vancleave Monday.

STANISLAUS
DOWNS EAST CENTRAL

MANAGER CERTIFIED—Helen E. (Miss Helen) Reuther of Waveland displays a Delta Agri Expo certificate she was awarded after recently completing a three-month correspondence course in food and beverage service. Reuther, an employee of Universal Development Management Co. of Atlanta, is restaurant manager of an eatery, Baton Rouge, La. Days Inn. The woman has worked in the food service field for about 30 years. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

Delta Agri Expo slated Jan. 26-27

The annual Delta Agricultural Exposition will be held at the Bolivar County Expo Center in Cleveland Jan. 26-27.

The Expo will provide farmers and agribusinessmen who attend the latest information on producing and marketing cotton, soybeans, rice, pecans and catfish.

This year's Delta Agricultural Exposition, sponsored by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, will feature experts on economics, varieties, seed quality, fertility, weed control, water management, insect control and marketing.

Information on catfish pond construction and food fish production will be included also. All educational question and answer sessions will be repeated on the morning and afternoon of each day, so growers can attend all sessions during one visit. Morning sessions will begin at 9 a.m. Afternoon sessions will begin at 1:30 p.m.

About 120 exhibits, both inside the Exposition Center and on the grounds, will give visitors a chance to learn about new production methods and the latest equipment. Free publications will be distributed.

Begin in 1974, the Expo is expected to draw an audience of several thousand from Mississippi and surrounding states.

The public is invited.
